

ST. MARGARET'S CONNECT

A Publication of St Margaret's Ex-students' Association

Issue 30 : Jan – Mar 2013

Message from the President

2012 had been a wonderful year for SMESA as it celebrated with the schools the 170th Anniversary of St Margaret's. We were proud to be part of the many activities carried out through the year based always on the theme of Blessed to be a Blessing. We were indeed pleased that the activities, including Green Dot Day, The Musical, and the Gala Dinner raised in excess of S$250,000 for Singapore Anglican Community Services.

We were indeed grateful for the contribution, support and assistance rendered to SMESA in making the year a special one.

Going forward, 2013 will be another year of giving and sharing.

We will be holding our AGM on 20 April 2013 (Saturday) which I hope you will all come, choose your new board members and catch up with old friends.

We hope you enjoy this issue of the newsletter where we share with you somethings new, somethings old and all things fun!

St Margaret's School Service Award 2012

At the 170th Anniversary dinner, the St Margaret's School Service Awards were given out to those who contributed to the success of St Margaret's school.

St Margaret's School Service Award Recipients 2012 :

- Mrs Wong Sooi Loon - Distinguished Award

Mrs Wong Sooi Loon graduated from St Margaret's School in 1959 and returned to teach in St Margaret's Primary School in 1963. She faithfully taught there for 39 years until her retirement in 2002. In her retirement, she led the St Margaret's Ex-Students' Association as its President from 2002 to 2004, and from 2008 to 2009. As President, she set up the SMESA Bursary Fund to help needy students and introduced the SMESA School Service Award to recognise graduating prefects for their contributions to the school. She initiated the Alumni Tea and the SMESA Youth Wing to promote camaraderie among members of the St Margaret's Family.

Mrs Wong was generous both in spirit and with her resources. She donated $25,000 to the Primary School in 2010 to upgrade its Music Room and $450,000 to the Secondary School in 2011 to construct Multi-Purpose Rooms. Her acts of charity, patience and devotion remain an example to us all.

• Goh Foundation - Meritorious Award

Established in Singapore in 1994, the Goh Foundation leads various community-based initiatives in medicine, education and development, by supporting programmes that significantly improve the quality of human lives. St Margaret's School is privileged to be a beneficiary of the Goh Foundation's munificence since 2002. In the past decade, the Goh Foundation has encouraged our students by sponsoring awards for the top students of each academic level, as well as the award for the most improved student in the GCE 'O' level examinations.

The sponsorship of these awards has gone a long way in encouraging our students to excel academically.

• Mrs Monica Lim - Meritorious Award

Mrs Monica Lim joined the St Margaret's Ex-Students' Association in 1980 and has served the school faithfully as a member of the alumnae for the past 32 years. During those years, she served in the executive committee of SMESA in various positions, including that of Honorary Auditor and the Chairperson of the SMESA Bursary Fund Committee. Her steadfast love for God and the School is shown in the way she supports the Devotion group by praying for the school and its staff and students.

• Ms Pixie Ho - Meritorious Award

Ms Pixie Ho joined the St Margaret's Ex-Students' Association in the year 2000 and has remained a devoted member of the alumnae ever since. In the past decade, she served as the Assistant Honorary Auditor in 2001, the Vice-President from 2002 to 2004, and from 2009 to 2012, and the President from 2005 to 2008. She was instrumental in organising the annual Graduation Night for the Secondary 4 and 5 students, and the Anniversary Dinner for members of the St Margaret's Family. Ms Ho created work experience opportunities for students in the Secondary School and set up the SMESA All-Round Achiever Award for students in the Primary School.

She has generously donated to all fundraising projects in aid of the School and its programmes. Ms Ho continues to support the school in the holistic development of its students.

SMESA POPIAH PARTY and NATURE CONSERVATION TALK

- 13 October 2012

Ms Pixie Ho

On 13 October 2012, SMESA organised a Popiah Party for its members and ex-students at the Learning Lab of SMSS. It was meant to be a time of fellowship for its members, ex-students, members from PSG and PTA, and the staff of the Schools. All together about 35 people joined in the fun!

Everyone enjoyed themselves making their own popiah. The filling, which is the core of the popiah, was lovingly cooked by 3 ex-students. As such, we had various versions of the popiah filling to sample. One sample was prepared by SMESA member, Goh Wei, who had learned it from a master chef. Apart from the popiah, there were delicious kueh kueh specially purchased by SMESA member, Ho Lian Geok from Alexandra Village and a Special brew of tea, coffee and other beverages.

Without fail, our tea-party always come with a talk and on this occasion, Dr Ho Hua Chew (Dr Ho), a member of the Nature Society, Singapore and a keen nature conservationist, was invited to deliver a talk on Nature Conservation in Singapore.

Dr Ho began with the Nature Society's first nature conservation area at Sungei Buloh. After the success of Sungei Buloh, the Society formulated a Master Plan in 1990 identifying 28 sites from a variety of habitats (such as forest, mangrove, greenland, etc) for conservation. These sites comprise 12 forest/woodlands (such as Bukit Brown, Sentosa, Pulau Ubin, Kent Ridge, etc. 16 of the 28 sites are included in The Singapore Green Plan 1993.

He also mentioned of the justifications for preserving these sites such as a pollution free environment to ensure good health; provision of basic resources such as water and unpolluted air; open-air recreation for fitness and enjoyment; education in ecological sciences; cultural heritage appreciation; nature conservation to support global strategies for protecting the planet; amongst other justifications.

He also explained the differences between Nature Reserves and Nature Areas. He enlightened that Nature Reserves are nature areas protected by law and managed by the National Parks Board. Examples of Nature Reserves existing are Bukit Timah Nature Reserve; Central Catchment Reserve; Sungei Buloh Wetland Reserve and Labrador Nature Reserve. Whereas, the Nature Areas, although identified as areas with a rich variety of flora and fauna, are only to be kept as they are as long as they are not needed for development.

He told the audience that new sites were added to the revised Green Plan 2012 and included in the URA Master Plan (published in 2003). These new sites are Chestnut Drive, Dairy Farm, Sungei China at Woodlands, Sungei China at Lim Chu Kang, Sisters' Island (marine site) and Kent Ridge, which was recommended by the Society. However, some sites listed in the original Green Plan (1993), like Sungei Mandai, Sungei Khatib Bongsu, Pulau Semakau and all the marine/coral sites (except Sisters' Islands), were excluded.

He concluded his talk mentioning the Society's justification for the conservation of Bukit Brown (Cemetery) such as:-

- 1) Provision of ecosystem services (carbon sequestration; natural air-conditioning and rainfall sponge controlling rainfall run-off).
- 2) Conservation of biodiversity (harbor many species in the Singapore Red Data Book (2008); extended foraging ground/habitat for many forest species; extensive and important stepping stone in a series of green links/parks for wildlife dispersal to the Southern Ridges); wintering haven for migratory birds such as flycatchers, warblers, cuckoos, raptors, etc., coming down annually from the temperate zones).
- 3) Provision of arenas and resources for human amenities (such as accessible resources for eco-education; natural and pleasant screening function against jarring concrete; green lung for recreationists/visitors; and etc.

Dr Ho Hua Chew gave a talk on Nature Conservation in Singapore.

SMESA Bursary Awards -18 October 2012

Ms Pixie Ho

Dr Lee Hoon Hwee SMESA President, presented a cheque for $1,287.00 for the disbursement of the Bursary Fund to Mrs Yip Wai Fong SMSS Vice-Principal, on 18 October 2012 during the School Assembly.

17 applications were received from needy students from SMSS to pay for the balance of their "N" and "O" levels examinations fees. All the 17 students qualified for the MOE FAS scheme.

SMESA has a bursary fund established for such needy students and has, with the contributions from supporters, managed to assist needy students through the years. This year, we have received twice the number of applications for assistance compared to last year. We are pleased that we are able to assist them all.

Dr Lee Hoon Hwee SMESA President, presented a cheque to Mrs Yip Wai Fong SMSS Vice-Principal.

St Margaret's Primary School Prize Giving Day - 16 November 2012

Ms Pixie Ho

16 November 2012 was the St Margaret's Primary School Prize Giving Day which was held at the School Hall. As a tradition, the school would invite an "old Girl" as the Guest of Honour for the occasion. Ms Kok Lee Kwang, the Principal of Juvenile Homes cum Head of Education, Ministry of Social Family & Development, graced the occasion this year. Diana Sacks and I from SMESA, were lucky to be included as well.

Ms Kok shared with the audience her memories of the days when she was in SMPS and the songs that she had sung (see picture showing one of the songs).

This year's Valediction was delivered by Karen Ho Yong En.

Prizes and Awards were presented to students with top academic and CCA results. Special Awards 2012 were also presented to the following students:-

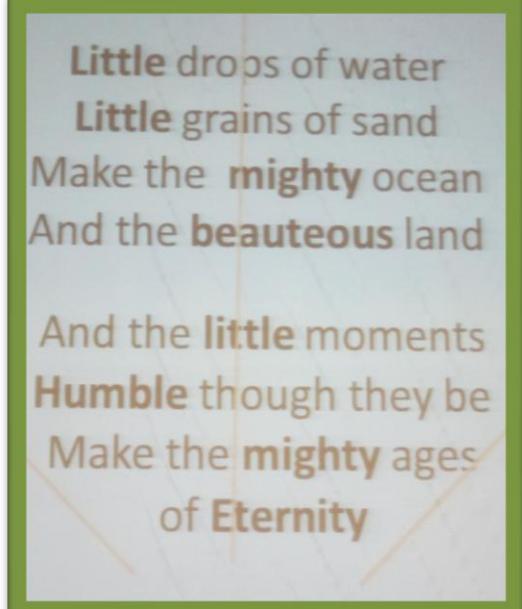

Tan Si Yi, Seraphina	-	Top PSLE Award
Jenae Wee Wenning	-	Top CCA Achiever
Tan Minh Harn Andrea	-	SMESA All-Round Achiever Award (2011)
Chan Xue En Pamela	-	St Margaret's Prize
Yu Yiyan Janessa	-	St Margaret's Prize
Grace Ong En-Ning	-	St Margaret's Prize

SMESA sponsored the SMESA All-Round Achiever Award, St Margaret's Prize and the SMESA School Service Awards which were presented at an earlier occasion to P6 Prefects for their service to SMPS.

After the presentation of the prizes, we were treated to a wonderful concert of dance and music.

170th Anniversary Dinner-16 November 2012

Ms Ruby Lee

16 November 2012 was a night to remember for a long time for many proud St Margaret's students, ex-students, teachers, ex-teachers and all associated with the schools.

I had a small role to play during the course of the dinner as I was honored with the reading of the citations of the recipients of the St Margaret's School Service Award. Needless to say, I was in a fluster the whole day over the usual worries like tripping on the stage or losing the materials.

However, when I arrived at the foyer of the ballroom, the beautiful music by the St. Margaret's Secondary School ensemble immediately put me at ease. The foyer was bustling with energy and everyone was happily recognizing old friends, taking photographs and admiring the memorabilia for sale. By the time we made our way to the ballroom, we were all in very high spirits and could not wait to enjoy the programs planned for the evening. We were not disappointed. His Excellency President Tony Tan Keng Yam's and his wife's gracious attendance made the evening all the more special. The Choirs of both the primary and the secondary schools were impressive and we could not stop humming along with them on the familiar tunes. Charis Lim, the flautist from the primary school delighted everyone.

The food was delicious and the roving photographers made everyone so happy when they instantly gave us the pictures taken to take home. The best part of the evening for me must be the opportunity to catch up with old friends, teachers, ex teachers and making new friends.

It was truly a night that reminded me why I am proud to be from St Margaret.

Garage Sales – 24 November 2012

Ms Hui Choon Wai

Our stall at the Crossroads Garage Sale held at Cairnhill Community Club did well again this year. Thanks to our supportive members and friends, we had a good collection of saleable second hand items. Interesting items included the old-fashioned charcoal grill for satay and a typewriter. The usual bargaining and haggling added to the fun. All of us who helped at the stall (Ruby, Florence, Pixie and I) thoroughly enjoyed ourselves. A decent sum was raised which shall go into our SMESA general fund towards the funding of our activities.

SMESA would like to thank all our members and their friends who donated their items to us. If you or your friends have any unwanted household items (no clothes please!) in good condition to donate, please contact us at enquiries@smesa.org.sg. Arrangements can be made for you to drop them off at SMESA's room at the secondary school or for us collect bulky items.

SMSS Prom Night 2011 – 28 November 2012

Brenda Lan

Congratulations to our students from the graduating batch of 2012. This year on 28 November 2012, we held our annual graduation dinner at the Raffles Town Club ballroom. Our theme for the night was, "A Starry Starry Night". We have a new record of two hundred and eighty-one (281) student-attendees from both our Secondary 4 and 5 classes. We thank the organizing committee led by SMESA and with the help of PSG members and SMSS representatives for organizing another evening that our graduating students will remember. We also want to thank our volunteers who gave their time on a Wednesday evening to help out with the photography and the photo booth.

The girls were dressed in their best and enjoyed themselves in all the activities, including taking photographs with each other. They were very participative in the games and were most excited over the lucky draw prizes. Towards the end of the dinner, the girls had a fantastic time singing, dancing and more photograph taking to capture their last moments of a wonderful starry night.

SMSEA Job Shadowing 2012

Pixie Ho

SMESA has always been keen to provide job-shadowing opportunities for SMSS students. However, we are disappointed that not many organizations are prepared to provide such opportunities to the students. We are grateful to Central Chambers Law Corporation and Ho & Associates, which, since the inception of the job-shadowing programme, have provided students' the invaluable learning experience.. We hope more members would be part of this programme.

The experiences gained by the students who had the opportunity to job-shadow are immeasurable. These can be gathered from the following comments made by the 2 students who were attached to Ho & Associates for their Job-Shadowing stint in December 2012:-

*"During the attachment period, we visited the courts and gained a better under-standing of how the courts and law firms are run. It has been an extremely enriching and eye opening experience. It has really given me an insight into a lawyer's job and this will help me decide what to choose for my profession." ... Mertice Ho Jun Yan

"I really want to say a big THANK YOU for taking so much of your precious time to teach us about the paper work, filing procedures and bringing us to see the court cases. Before this, I can just say I want to become a lawyer, but I would know nothing about it at all. Now, I am proud to say that I know much more about what lawyers do and how much effort, precision and PASSION are required of this job.

*It is not really all that glamorous things that are shown on TV, it's about helping people, being committed and a lot of hard work. You've also taught us that it's important to control your emotions and be professional, and that's really important advice. I'm honestly so glad and grateful for the chance that I've been given because the experience that you've blessed me and Mertice with is priceless and extremely valuable." ... Grace Lee Kai Hoon

Please do contact any member of SMESA if you are interested in giving SMSS students some valuable learning experience.

Class of 1955

Sometime in August 2012, I received a phone call from Mrs Foo Kar Hiang inviting me to be one of your Alumni Speakers. Mrs Foo read about me from an interview in the Straits Times where it was reported that I graduated from St Margaret's School. I agreed to give the talk without a second thought and the date was fixed. Like all speakers I thought that I had plenty of time to think about what I shall say, of course when the date drew near I panicked.

What can I possibly say to you that your parents or grandparents have not said already?

I have no medals for heroism, no success story for fame and prestige to talk about. I would not have been included in your principal's newsletter for outstanding achievements. Now too late to back out of this eventuality, so I decide to tell you the story of my life. Don't groan I will make the story interesting by telling it backwards in case you fall asleep waiting for the end.

First a few sound bites

When your friends, parents, teachers give you advice, do not think that they are nagging or complaining, they mean well so take all comments as 'goodwill'. Acknowledge with a smile and promise that you will think about it. Learn to distinguish good from evil. That which enhances life, cherishes life or improves life from that which impoverishes life or diminishes life.

HOW TO MAKE A LIVING

To make a living one needs a skill, you might have participated in programs organised by your school to get a taste of what working life is like.

After your GCE 'O' level some of you might continue your education by going onto Junior College and then onto university. Or you might decide to join a technical college to learn a skill or profession. Some of you could go straight into your family business or enrol with an organisation which provides experience on the job.

Whatever path you choose there is no short cut to take you from school directly to work. So you need to face the bridge of acquiring experience.

You might ask. Do you mean to say that all the years of study I have put in to pass my exams cannot earn me a living? That is exactly what I said.

Your studies in Humanities and Sciences enable you to visualise yourself in the world you live in, your environment and your understanding of the world around you, thus enabling you to live in this world. But you cannot find a job without training 'on the job'.

I enrolled in St Margaret's School at the age of thirteen then I could not speak a word of English because I was born in China. My parents thought it best to enrol me into an English speaking school. From my early years between the ages of thirteen and sixteen I blundered along in school, like a 'sotong' blur.

When preparing for GCE 'O' levels I had to find subjects that I could manage without having to read long passages in English. So history was out, too much to read. Geography is better because it did not involve too much reading. I could draw maps, did survey work, and understood the wind belts and among other factors the causes of change of weather and temperature. I had an excellent teacher, Mrs Kon. Religious knowledge was one of my chosen subjects, those days' ethics and religious knowledge were taught by Church of England missionaries; I chose the subject as I could rely on my Chinese bible and translated passages into English. I took Math and Additional Math which was taught by my father. Of course I took Chinese as a subject to ensure a distinction. Also home economics as a subject turned out to be very useful in my later life. You can make friends through food.

To make up to seven papers, Literature and general paper were compulsory my command was still non-existent so I resorted to learning by heart chunks and chunks, to enable me to get through essays and literature. I don't necessarily understand what was required of me; I simply hoped to impress the examiners by reproducing everything I could remember.

I earned a few distinctions and the rest were credits, enough to get me into JC. But I really could not keep up with the gruelling curriculum. I was miserable; my parents have pinned all their hope on my going to university and earning a degree in order to 'make a good living'.

I could not fulfill their dream. I made the decision to cross over to Singapore Polytechnic which open in 1958 and enrolled for accountancy course. I explained to my parents that accountancy should be easy, all one needs to do is to know how to add, subtract and multiply, not even necessary to know how to divide.

Important message here is to use what you got, make the best of it, don't complain about what you do not have.

I graduated with a diploma in accountancy. Now, still same question, how to make a living. After my diploma I apprenticed with a firm of Chartered accountants and 3 years later I could register myself as an accountant. I made a living by practicing as an accountant for 10 years.

HOW TO LIVE

Your education cultivates your sense to enjoy sound, sight, taste and feel. That is how to live. Be aware of the beautiful surroundings, museums, concerts, food the list goes on and on. Your school offers Aesthetic Development which is designed to develop your artistic sensibilities for example through assembly programs you are exposed to as many art forms as possible.

Is this aspect of how to live important? Very, I should say, because after you learnt how to make a living you must be an all rounded and informed person to know how to enjoy life, not just counting money and playing computer games. If not you will remain a 'sotong' forever.

During my internship as an accountant I worked hard for little pay just to learn the practical routine in an office. With my salary, I bought art modestly, went to concerts to enjoy music sometime for free. I visited museums, there were no galleries then. I travelled around the region. I also cultivated my sense of taste (in food, surroundings, clothing, and manners); a few of my personal examples of how to live.

HOW TO LIVE WITH OTHERS

Your education in school includes learning how to interact with your community, tolerant of the needs of others and respect for your fellow men, understanding personal and social responsibility, developing leadership qualities through team sports for example.

I learnt how to live with others through art. Being interested in art brought me close to artists and soon I realise that I should not only cultivate my taste in art, I should promote art. So I merged all three aspects of making a living, how to live and living with others into one venture.

I abandoned my 10 year accounting career to be an art dealer. I started an art gallery to make a living and also to realise a need in promoting art and giving artists a chance to sell their works. My gallery became a focal point for friends and new comers into the art scene. So I enjoyed the warm camaraderie of art lovers and artists. My gallery is a venue not only for exhibitions but also a place for informal gatherings for discussions.

What helps in shaping my destiny is not always asking what is in it for me, but what is in it for each other. I am generous not just with money but with time and with my opinion of people.

Remember what I said before about goodwill. This is living with others. I have learned many things from the various people I meet, in everyone there is something I can learn.

I organised trips with artists to far flung places like the outback of The Northern territory of Australia, the ancient silk road of China, desert towns of Rajasthan, medieval towns in Umbria, Italy and the ancient cities in Uzbekistan. With the best artists around me I was easily moved to paint with them. This is the way to live.

Looking back at my life, it has been a real journey of discovery, and the satisfaction of knowing that I was always in control of my own destiny has been very liberating and satisfying. Whatever I do, I strive to be independent at all times and flexible in my approach, and to make sound decisions in how I wanted to live my life, personally and professionally

There is so much ahead of you to experience and enjoy... have fun and enjoy your journey, I still am enjoying mine!!!! ”
